

Notice of Right to Opt-Out of Sale or Sharing of Personal Information

Windes, Inc. and its affiliates, Windes Wealth Management, LLC and Windes Technology & Risk, LLC, do not sell personal information for monetary consideration. However, certain analytics, marketing, and advertising tools used on our public websites (including www.windes.com and pages branded as Windes Wealth Management and Windes Technology & Risk) may be considered a 'sale' or 'sharing' under California law. You may opt-out of the sale or sharing of your personal information at any time.

Windes discloses personal information to service providers that perform business functions on our behalf. These service providers are contractually prohibited from using personal information for their own purposes other than as permitted by California law, which means those disclosures are not considered 'sales' or 'sharing' under California law.

How to Exercise Your Right to Opt-Out of Sale or Sharing of Personal Information

1. Submit your request by visiting <https://windes.com/contact-us/>.
2. If your browser or device supports the Global Privacy Control (GPC) or a similar opt-out preference signal, our website will automatically honor it as a valid request to opt-out of the sale or sharing of your personal information for that browser.

Once we receive your request, we will process it promptly and confirm compliance within the time required by California law. Your opt-out preference will remain in effect unless you later choose to allow sharing again.